DESCRIPTION

This 2010 Honda Jazz i-VTEC ES is a practical hatchback that has been well maintained under the care of only two owners from new. As an ES trim model, it is powered by a reliable 1.4 litre petrol engine, offering a balanced driving experience suitable for both city commutes and longer journeys. The vehicle combines the established reliability associated with the Honda brand with a straightforward design that prioritises ease of use for the driver.

The vehicle stands out for its efficiency and clever use of space, making it a sensible choice for those who need a versatile car. It achieves an impressive fuel economy of 52 mpg, which helps to keep running costs manageable, while the low CO2 emissions contribute to its overall efficiency. Inside, the design maximises interior practicality, featuring a large boot space that provides ample room for luggage or shopping, ensuring that the car remains highly functional for daily life.
